

Based in Banbury, Oxfordshire, Lochinvar products have been providing energy efficient hot water and heating solutions for many Commercial and Industrial applications for many years. Lochinvar products have been supplied in the UK since 1976; when the Knight and Charger Water Heaters were amongst the first direct gas fired Water Heaters available. In recent years our product offering has been expanded to include a wide range of Condensing Boilers and Water Heaters and also Integrated Renewable Solutions.

We are constantly developing our established business in the UK and Ireland. Another main activity is new product development, where we work closely with our Group Global manufacturing facilities. Lochinvar products are known for their reliability, efficiency and cost effectiveness and all products are designed and manufactured for the specific needs of the UK market.

Area Sales Manager – London, Kent & East Sussex

Overall responsibility:

To represent Lochinvar Ltd in the territory specified and to ensure the area meets its objectives in terms of sales revenues. This role is likely to require extensive travel across the specified sales territory and occasionally to Banbury Head Office.

Key tasks include:

- To grow business with established customers
- To seek out and develop new business opportunities
- To make effective sales presentations to a range of customer types
- To develop an excellent level of knowledge on Lochinvar products and their application
- To develop a very good level of knowledge on Competitors and their products
- To have a good understanding of general Industry/market matters
- Continuously maintain the CRM database, including Accounts, Contacts and Opportunities
- To create new Opportunities and to record and update effectively within CRM
- To be resourceful and innovative
- To ensure that customer related issues are handled efficiently and effectively working with other departments and colleagues where necessary

Skill and Competence Requirements:

- A minimum of 2 years experience within Commercial HVAC or associated Industry
- Ability to understand the application of Boilers/Water Heaters etc in Commercial systems
- A reasonable level of IT knowledge including standard Microsoft Office packages and Navision/CRM type software
- The ability to manage time effectively
- The ability to understand and develop a 'solution selling' approach
- A basic level of financial knowledge
- Good communication skills – both verbal and written
- Ability to work with other colleagues to achieve common goals
- Resident with the Sales territory

This is an opportunity to join a growing company, with a position which provides good career development opportunities and offers a competitive compensation and benefit packages. Interested candidates should send their CV for the attention of Human Resources: hr@lochinvar.ltd.uk

Lochinvar Ltd, Lombard Way, The MXL Centre, Banbury, Oxon, OX16 4TJ

Tel: +44(0) 1295 269 981, Fax: +44(0) 1295 271 640

www.lochinvar.ltd.uk